

Master programmes in Business Administration

MSc (60 credits) in Business Administration specialising in International Business and Marketing

In a multicultural learning environment this one-year master programme aims to give you the competencies and skills necessary for working with international business and marketing in a broad range of multinational and national companies. The main emphasis lies on B2B marketing and international business and strategy, and a close corporate interaction is found in the work placement with a focus on sustainability.

Form of study: Campus education.

Guaranteed place.

Read more at www.hkr.se/master-marketing

MSc (60 credits) in Business Administration specialising in Auditing and Control

This one-year master programme suits you who want to work with accounting, auditing and / or financial management in industry, government or other organizations. Main topics are accounting, management control, auditing, corporate governance, customer orientation, and learning is based on close cooperation and integration with the business.

Form of study: Campus education.

Guaranteed place.

Read more at www.hkr.se/master-auditing

Both programmes are given in English. The programmes are open to students from around the world, and have a diverse international participation of students. The studies are full-time for one year.

Advanced courses in public management and governance, online

Theories and principles of public management and governance 7,5 credits

The course is aimed at deepening your knowledge and understanding of theories and principles underlying changes in the management and governance of the public sector. The course will provide future public managers with instruments enabling them to introduce managerial innovations within the cities, regions and countries in which they work.

Form of study: 50%, Web-based distance education.

Read more at www.hkr.se/en/kfe7050

Human Resource Development in Public sector 7,5 credits

The course is intended for people with current or future management duties within the public sector who wish to specialise in skills provision, professional development and career planning based on the needs of the organisation. The course focuses on issues of staff provision, human resources management and professional/career development in public sector organisations.

Form of study: 50%, Web-based distance education.

Read more at www.hkr.se/en/kfe7055

For more information

www.hkr.se/education

hs@hkr.se, +46 44-250 31 00