A high-quality education with a focus on your career

Welcome to Kristianstad University

Kristianstad University is a mid-size university in southern Sweden, just an hour from Denmark and the European mainland. The university was founded in 1977, but its roots go back to 1835 and the start of teacher training. Each year we welcome around 14,000 students, including 300 from countries around the world.

Work-integrated education

Our education is tailored to the real world and developed with a close connection between academia and business. We are proud to be the only university in Sweden to offer work-integrated education in all our undergraduate programmes. We attach great importance to preparing you for your professional career.

About Sweden

Sweden has about 10 million people and is the fourth-largest country in Europe by area. Half the land is forest, less than ten per cent is farmland. The seasons range from warm summers to snowy winters. Sweden is a democracy known for its openness, and home to companies like IKEA, Volvo and Spotify.

"I chose to study the Master's programme in Food and Meal Science to both broaden and deepen my knowledge. Now I work as a dietician in a Swedish hospital in the south of Sweden and teach patients how to make healthy food choices."
